appeared in repertoire, presenting four plays. This season Miss Spooner has everted to the "one play" offering. ecil Spooner is one of the cleverest eading women on the stage today. The season of repertoire has served its purpose well; it has broadened her purpose well; it has broadened her splendid art, has given depth to her pathos, and her inimitable style of humor has reached such a height that the reigns supreme as the she reigns supreme as the first come

Spooner is appearing in is entitled The Little Terror and is a four act comedy from the pen of Amelia Weed Hot-brook. Miss Spooner will again have the assistance of one of the strongest the assistance of one of the strongest dramatic companies ever sent out for a road tour; each individual player has been selected with his or her ability always in sight, and as a whole the company is one of exceptional strength

The Little Terror, with Miss Spooner in the title role, will be the attraction at the Broadway theater this evening.

BREED THEATER.

The Yellow Jacket Mine, Sensationa

Motion Picture.

The magnificent feature picture entitled The Yellow Jacket Mine is a most satisfactory one, the absorbing story being well portrayed by the well selected cast. The periddy of a young Mexican girl is one of the chief motives of the story and the whole picture, being made on well known mining grounds is worthy of the great adgrounds is worthy of the great ad-miration that it receives. The scene taken from the veranda of a western hotel overlooking the picturesque val-ley, is one of great beauty, while the action that follows it is fast and furi-ous. Two other big feature pictures are on the bill, besides the regular amount of comedy, which is as fine as has been seen here in a long time.

Miss Grace Alwin makes a hit with her excellent rendition of the selection from Il Trovatore, the very dramatic climax being done in true operatic style, winning for her a hearty encore. The pretty illustrated song, Pansies Mean Thoughts, is another of her suc-cesses, the audience joining in the horus with much vigor.

A complete change of bill takes place omorrow, with added noveities.
